

Cabana Round Up

Poolside cabanas have become ubiquitous—and clients looking for a low-down on the best cabanas in Hawaii are in luck.

SPG Hotels Hawaii has created a list of the cabanas at its 12 Hawaiian hotels, whether its simple privacy your looking for, or all out luxury.

Clients looking for a private party under the stars are recommended to opt for the oceanfront cabanas at RumFire Waikiki at Sheraton Waikiki, which can be combined for larger parties and offer food and beverage services.

For something a little quieter the Royal Hawaiian Mai Tai bar offers cabanas steps away from the beach. While those who prefer to be poolside should be directed to the cabanas at the Moana Surfrider, The Westin Princeville Ocean Resort Villas and Sheraton Princess Kaiulani.

The Westin Maui Resort and Spa is recommended for larger groups, while those who miss technology can try The Westin Nanea Ocean Villa cabanas which feature flat screen televisions.

At the same time, the Westin Ka'anapali Ocean Resort Villas offers daybeds, pool cabanas and luxury gazebos, while the cabanas at Sheraton Kona Resort & Spa at Keauhou Bay offer bay views, beverages and snacks.

For a more luxurious option, Sheraton Kauai Resort offers cabanas with televisions, ceiling fans, bar and grill fare as well as beverages. Rounding off the cabana low-down is The St Regis Princeville Resort which offers a private cabana dinner experience each evening.
